JAMES SILVEY PROMOTED TO PROJECT MANAGER

A CAREER IN ARCHITECTURE MADE SENSE BECAUSE, ACCORDING TO JAMES, HE “WAS ALWAYS INTRIGUED BY THE CAPACITY OF BUILDINGS TO BE BOTH AESTHETICALLY PLEASING SCULPTURAL CONSTRUCTIONS WHILE SIMULTANEOUSLY FULFILLING THE FUNCTIONAL NEEDS OF THE INHABITANTS.” IN THE TEN YEARS SINCE HIS GRADUATION FROM TEMPLE UNIVERSITY, JAMES SILVEY HAS PUT HIS DEGREE IN ARCHITECTURE TO GOOD USE. PRIOR TO JOINING BARTONPARTNERS, HE SERVED AS A PROJECT ARCHITECT ON A DIVERSE ASSORTMENT OF PROJECTS, INCLUDING INSTITUTIONAL, MEDICAL, PHARMACEUTICAL, COMMERCIAL, AND INDUSTRIAL DESIGN. AT BARTONPARTNERS, HIS FOCUS HAS BEEN MOSTLY ON PLANNING MIDRISE CONDOMINIUM BUILDINGS BUILT ABOVE PARKING GARAGES. OVER THE PAST FOUR YEARS, HE HAS PROGRESSED FROM HIS INITIAL DESIGNER POSITION TO HIS NEWLY ACQUIRED ROLE AS PROJECT MANAGER WHERE HE IS RESPONSIBLE FOR NOT ONLY PROJECT DESIGN AND DEVELOPMENT, BUT ALSO FOR SUPERVISING EACH OF HIS PROJECTS THROUGH THE PROCESS, FROM INCEPTION TO COMPLETION. BARTONPARTNERS IS CONFIDENT THAT JAMES HAS BOTH THE TECHNICAL SKILL AND LEADERSHIP ABILITY NECESSARY FOR HIS CONTINUED SUCCESS.
